Grand Monsters

A FREE poetry-reading festival
on the theme of London

Thursday 27 March 2008

Foyles Bookshop
113-119 Charing Cross Road
London WC2H 0EB

Starting at 12 noon

With Simon Armitage, Mimi Khalvati, Martha Kapos, Anna Adams, Anna Robinson and Kevin Crossley-Holland

“London is the grandest and most complicated monster on the face of the earth.” – Felix Mendelssohn

Grand Monsters

12noon – 2pm: A workshop for adults on ways to read poetry with Mimi Khalvati

3pm – 4.30pm: A performance reading with Anna Adams, Anna Robinson, Martha Kapos and Kevin Crossley-Holland

6.30pm: Exclusive book launch of Simon Armitage’s new collection, Out of the Blue

The workshop is in The Meeting Room, 3rd Floor and the readings are in the Gallery, 2nd Floor.

THE CAPITAL has inspired musicians, artists and writers the world over for centuries – from Shakespeare to Scott Walker to Zadie Smith.

Enitharmon Press, with Foyles Bookshop, challenge you to tame that other monster – poetry. Remember those lines you loved from school but can’t quite remember now (or were too embarrassed to admit to loving then)?

PLACES on the workshop are limited and allocated on a first-come first-served basis.

To book a place please telephone Enitharmon Press on 020 7482 5967 or email info@enitharmon.co.uk.

If you think poetry is more grand and complicated than London, come along and see for yourself...
